LIFE IN THE METROPOLIS. DASHES HERE AND THERE BY THE SUN'S REPORTERS.

Fun at Police Hendquarters. Some of the police trials yesterday were a trifle racy. William Quirk and Michael Smith were accused of being engaged in a fight on Eighty-fifth breet and Ninth avenue. When called on for a de-fence, Smith said. "Well, your honor, I'll tell you all the truth about it." "That's exactly what I of friends, and Quirk said, 'I'm able to wrestle any man in New York with the ketch howit.' 'What an in New York with the ketch howit.' 'What now it is that 's set I. 'Ketchin' you by the breast,' set he. 'I know nothing about that,' set I. 'but I'll tackle you collar and elbow, what I'm used to.' Agreed,' set he. So we went to the Boulevard without witnesses an' we had it out; I threw him his way, and he threw me my way; we didn't go to ight; that was all very well, but he then got a stick and drew a line, and told me to put my heels against t, and see how far I could put back the stick under my legs; but as I stooped well forward his foot ame against melike a battering ram behind, and the csuit was that Dr. Van Buren had some extra duties operform as police surgeon.''

In the suit in the Superior Court by John O'Mahony, the ex-Feulan Head Centre, to recover back $30,000 in gold deposited with Messrs. Belmont & Co. in 1865, Judge McCuan yesterday granted a motion for a receiver to take possession of the money pending the action. The money was deposited for bills of exchange upon the Messrs. Rothschild, London, payable to the order of John O'Leary. Mr. O'Mahoxy swears that the bills never reached O'Leary, and that he owns the money, O'Leary being only his agent. Judge McCuan thinks that he is cleary entitled to a repossession of the money, and so appointed Thomas J. Barr receiver.

NATIONAL GUARD NOTES.

Seventh Regiment Excursion-Trip of Com-pany B-Company Election. The excursion of the Seventh Regiment to Albany and sarsing is the topic of conversion in Sarsing Guard circles. The trip is the cheapest of any thus far projected by any of our National Guard organizations considering the fact that the regiment is to be away four days. The assessment for each member is but $\frac{1}{2}$ for the trip, exclusive of subsistence, and this is to be provided at moderate rates. It is estimated that 500 men, exclusive of the regimental band and drum corps, will go.

men, exclusive of the regimental band and drum corps, where the company B. Twenty-second Regiment, on Thursday next, will be very pleasant. The Company will leave the armory in Fourteenth street at 8 o'clock A. M., accompanied by the regimental band, and proceed by rail to five, where by invitation of Samnel S. Bent they will visit his house and grounds. Several photographs of the company are to be taken. The remainder of the day is to be spent by a visit to Rye Beach and a hop at the Hummock House. Returning in the evening, the Company is to be net at the depot by Company C, of the Twenty-second, Capt. Tate commanding, and escorted to the armory. A number of the field and staff officers of the Twenty second, and several representatives of the press will accompany Company B. Capt. The form of Officers of the Eighth Regiment hold their quarterly meeting at the Ceutre Market armory on Tuesday evening next.

J. RUSSELL YOUNG, ESQ.

The Blue-Eyed Boy in Difficulty-One of the Partners in his Newspaper Institutes Pro-ceedings against Him-Somebody Accused of Misappropriating the Money of the Concern-Papers Served apon John Russell Young-An Order to Appear and Answer.

In the July term of the Supreme Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, Mr. Charles McClintock filed a bill against John Russell Young and the crew of the Philadelphia Star, including James Rankin Young, the brother of J. R. Young. John Blakely, the brother-in-law of John R. Young, and James McConneil, the friend of J. Russell

LAUNCHING THE NEWSPAPER SHALLOF. Of The bill alleges that the preparations for launching the Star were completed on November 1, 1867. Six sel before she was launched. The allegation filed says that $6,900 was thus used upon the vessel.

CHOOSING A CAPTAIN.

After these preliminaries had been arranged, the business management of the partnership, the bili alleges, was committed to John Blakely, the brother-in-law of John R. Young, and Charles E. School. They were paid $27.50 per week. The mates being thus selected, the crew chose as their Captain John Russell Young. The filed allegation says that he was to have the sole and exclusive editorial control says that "the business of said partnership has been steadily profitable, and that its legitimate profits receipts were properly appropriated by the parties in charge of said business, and that your orator has received no part of said partnership profits."

HOW THE PRIZE MONEY WAS DISTRIBUTED, Numerous captures were probably made, but the prize money appears to have been improperly disprize money appears to have been improperly distributed. The complaint asserts that the officers "have appropriated to themselves increased compensation of over twenty dollars per week without authority; have appropriated partnership money to prosecute the private suits of John Russell Young in New York and Philadelphia; that John Blakely, brother-in-hw of John R. Young, has deam from the partnership assets some $1,200 more than he is entitled to under his contract with the partnership, and that he has appropriated other moneys, the exact amount of which your orator cannot ascertain, to purposes outside of the partnership, which are unexpiained on the books of said firm."

CAULKING THE SEAMS OF A LEAKY CRAFT.

From the fourth specification of the allegation, it

CAULKING THE SEAMS OF A LEAKY CRAFT.

From the fourth specification of the allegation, it would seem that a part of the prize money was expended on a worthless vessel—a slow suller, and withal fearfully leaky. All hands were kept at the pumps to keep her afloat. The specification alleges that "the said partners have appropriated nearly or quite $5,000 of the partnership assets to sustain a newspaper known as the Morning Post, which concern is bankrupt, and known to be so by said business partners, and that said Morning Post is now printed and published mainly out of the profits of the Keening Star partnership; the bills of the Morning Post for rent, gas, press work and paper, have been generally paid by the aforesaid partners out of the money belonging to the partners in the Frening Star, until some $5,000 of the partnership profits have been thus missppropriated and wasted,"

AN INVESTIGATION DEMANDED.

THE REAL PROFITS OF THE VOYAGE. THE REAL PROFITS OF THE VOLUME.

From the exhibit accompaning the document, it appears that the profits of the voyage of the Star are now not less than $400 a week, if properly appropriated. Mr. McClintock has received no part of such profit, and he wants to know why. An order was thereupon entered, directing the respondents to appear and answer.

AFTER JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG.

On Wednesday the 7th of July, a young man of dark complexion and of pleasing countenance entered the Kensington denot, Philadelphia, and bought a ticket for New York. He was well dressed, and wore the pin of a Royal Arch Mason. He arrived in this city after dark. Dropping into the Astor House, be ste a hearty supper. After ward he went to the clerk's desk and asked for a New York Directory. After jotting down memorand in his note-book, he closed the Directory, highted a cigar, and drifted into Broadway. After a few minutes conversation with Thatcher, the telescope man, and a squirt at Saturn's rings, he crossed the street, spent ten cents in Humun's, and walked down Fulton street. Crossing the Fulton ferry, he took the Fulton avenue cars to Hoys street, walked up to and turned into Dean street, stopping before the door of 215. It is a modest brick house, with green blinds, and a respectable stoop. The stranger stooped, and peered at the door-plate. It bore the following inscription:

ONE WYORK Fridsy, July 16.—FLOUR AND MEAL—Without much change in prices, the market was doin and drooping, specially for Static and Western, Southern and California flours continue to be freely offered. By done and corn meal year first size of the control of the control

After a moment's hesitation the gentleman pulled the little knob on his right, and the faint tinkle of a distant beil crept to his ear. In two minutes the door opened and a well dressed servant girl appeared under the hall light.

"It is eq. sir," replied the girl, leaving him in the entry, gazing at a hat-rack.

In a moment she returned, saying: "Mr. Young is home, but he has just gone to bed, and he never gets up for anybody after he goes to bed. He wants to know tho you are."

working the bradle.

"Yes, I know," said the stranger. "Well, tell him I'll call again."

The door shut to with a clang, and the servant-girl and hall-lamp disappeared.

WORRYING THE BRAGLE.

Is Mr. Young up yet?" he asked of the servant

"Is Mr. Young up yet?" he asked of the servant girl.

She hesitated, but finally replied, "Oh, yes, sir; he went to New York two hours ago. Won't you leave your name?"

"No it's not necessary," said the stranger, and he walked off the steps. I'wenty minutes afterward he was seen on a Fulton ferry boat. He took dinner with a friend of the Hon. Horace Greeley. At alght he agan jerked the hitle beil handle of 215 Dean street, The face of the well-dressed servant girl was again protographed upon his memory by the hall light.

"Ah, good evening. Is Mr. Young at home yet?" he inquired.

"No, sir, he is not," the girl sharply answered. "He wants you to leave your name."

"Well, never mind the name," said the gentlemant. "You can tell him that I am sorry to go back to Philadelphia without seeing him."

The door closed, and the stranger again run down the stoop.

phia." "You will be wanted in Philadelphia again," sold Mr. McClintock, and thereupon he served upon Mr. Young the conspialat above noticed, with the following indorsement:

LIVELY TIMES ABEAD.

The parties then separated, Mr. Young going in the house, and Mr. McClintock going to Squam Beach. Mr. McClintock has engaged the best counsel in Philadelphia—Col. Alexander K. McClire and the Hon, William B. Mann—to prosecute his claim. It is thought that Mr. Young will secure the services of Attorney-General Brewster. Mr. McClintock has offered to sell out his interest in the Star for $10,000, and it is probable that he will get it. At any rate, lively times are ahead.

A STATIC CHOLERA.

During the prevalence of Asiatic Choices in Buenos Ayres, S. A., and in the armies of Paraguay and Brazil, in the winter of 1967, the army agents for medical supplies of both armies wrote to Dr. RADWAY of New York for special instructions for using the RADWAY REMEDIES in the treatment of this fatal scourge. At York for special instructions for using the RADWAY REMEDIES in the treatment of this fatal scourge. At that time hundreds were dying daily, the disease resisting all treatment, and the efforts of the most distinguished medical men, both civil and military. Dr. RADWAY suggested the following treatment, which in the hight of the disease was adopted, and succeeded in arresting the fatal effects of the seourage, and cured aimost every case.

CHOLERA IN THE CITY.

As several cases of Asiatic cholera have been reported to the Board of Hesith in this city and Brooklyn, it is well for every one to use the preventive measures, as suggested in the following letter:

Radway's Ready Relief is no experiment or uncertainty in Asiatic cholera, or in cases of DIARRHIGA. DISENTERY, CHAMPS, COLICS, CONVULSIONS, BILIOUS ATTACKS, INFLAMMATION OF THE ROWELS. 20 drops to a teaspoonful in a tumbler of water will stop the worst pains, vomitings, and weakening discharges within TWENTY MINUTES.

3nd Cure in a few Sours.

As the disease now prevailing throughout Canada, under the name of CANADA CHOLERA, is somewhat similar, only in a mild form, to Asiatic Cholera, and will readily viold to Dr. MADWAYS, DMEDIES.

similar, only in a mild form, to Asiatic Cholera, and will readily yield to Dr. RADWAY'S REMEDIES, we deem it but proper, for the benefit of the public health, to publish this copy of the letter;

Messee, John Eastman & Co., and others, Enemon Ayres, S. A.:
Gentlemen: In compliance with your request in TIC CHOLERA. • • • • If in cases where this scourge rages as an epidemic the preventive treatment is rigidly followed, both by civilians and the army, it will cease to be terrible, and, in cases where it may be developed, easily managed. That it is infectious I do not believe, or contaglous in any form other than malarious. It cannot be taken from one patient by another; but a person inhaling on an empty stomach the fumes or stench from the excrements of a cholera patient is subject to be seized with cholera. So, likewise, is one sitting in a water-closet, or using the same urinal, or inhaling the closely-confined atmospheric air, or handling the bedclothes or ciothing of the patient, soiled with the excrements from the cholera patient, may take with the excrements from the cholera patient, may take it, but not from touching or handling the person, or breathing the same atmospheric air, or even his breath. The contagion is the majarla from the excrements. It from the :tomach, the coldness of the body, the cramps, spasms and convulsions, show that the liver, kidneys, tables will cause an attack of cholers, or at least pre-pare the system for the reception of the cholers poison. This I believe to be erroneous, unless these substances, or any other food that may be taken into the stomach, will interrupt the functions of the liver, kidneys, and skin. In such cases mischief may follow. But if these skin. In such cases inischief may follow. But if these organs are kept in a healthy condition, and their secreting glands perform the duties assigned them, no attacks will take place. If the liver becomes torpid or sluggish, and falls to secrete its due proportion of bile, the blood is thrown out of balance; and if cholera poison becomes established in the system, the water is rapidly separated from the blood, and leaves it (the blood) choked up in the vessels.

In such cases, when the Liver, Skin, or Kidneys become deranged, torpid, or sluggish, and their functions interrupted, RADWAY'S PILLS should be taken every day to secure regular and harmonious action. If these Pills are taken, there will be no Diarrhea, Cholera Moribus, or other painful discharges—for Diarrhea is caused by imperfect secretions, and the object of taken

Motions, or other painful discharges—for Diarriona is caused by imperfect secretions, and the object of tak-ing Radway's Pills at this time is to secure natural secretions peculiar or belonging to each of the organi

Another important desideratum is necessary to secure safety against Cholera attacks that Radway's Pilis achieve, i. e., PERFECT DIGESTION. Regular discharges from the bowels, or daily evacuations, are not alone sufficient as evidence of PERFECT DIGESTION, as a person may have a regular operation every day, and yet suffer from imperfect digestion, as in cases where large quantities of the substances taken into the stomach are imperfectly digested. The gastric most lifeless body with new life, strength, and vigor, and in a few hours after a calm and refreshing sleep, the choiera patient awakes, cared and saved. Now, the administration of optum, chioroform, and local stimulants, brandy, liquors, &c., are destructive—all tending to lock up the disease in the body, and directing it to the brain—hence congestion of the brain frequently causes death.

The administration of local stimulants and oplates, such as brandy, opium, and chloroform, are the worst remedial ager as that can be given, as the functions of the skin, liver, stomach, bowels, kidneys, are stopped. gestion of the brain; whereas a DIFFUSIVE STIMU-LANT, such as BADWAY'S READY RELIEF, ACTS ON A'LL THE ORGANS, and the functions of each are at on ce assisted in the discharge of their duties. The line lation of ether, chloreform, &c., is injudicious; thus on'y stiffes the senses, and cannot be relied upon; w acreas the RADWAY RELIEF, CAN. In this agent the principle of life is exhibited, as all its indications and to arouse the prestrated organs to vigor. This is tend to arouse the prestrated organs to vigor. This is marked by its rapid action on the skin, in promoting free perspiration, and its restoration of the pulse to its natural newer.

natural power. In the nursing of the sick with Cholera (and the same will apply to Smail pox Yellow Fever, &c.) care should be taken to rinse out the urinals and other vessels with a solution of sulphate of copper and water, and, in fact, it would be better to keep in the urinals this solution, so as to disinfect and deodorize the poison of the excrements.

Privies, water-closets, sewers, &c., used by Cholera patients, should be disinfected by throwing in a solution of say five pounds of sulphate of copper and five gallons of water, as thousands of persons have, by visiting these places used by Cholera patients, been seized. It should be the duty of the Board of Health of every city, estecially when As atte Cholera or other malarions disease prevaits that is capable of communication by the gases or malaria from the excrements, to have all privies, water-closets, &c., deciorized or disinfected by pouring in a solution of this character every day during the prevalence of this disease. This alone will save thousands of lives.

I remain yours ever truly,
